

BIOL 253: ZOOLOGY

Lecture and lab. Introduction to the evolution of form and function of the major animal phyla with emphasis on observing ecological adaptations and unraveling evolutionary history through the use of contemporary taxonomic methods. The laboratory involves substantial dissection.

Credits: 4

Prerequisites:

BIOL 112. Alternate years, Spring. Lab fee.

Department: Biology