

MHA 615: PATIENT & FAMILY ENGAGEMENT

Healthcare has become a consumer market. Patients are becoming more discerning in their healthcare choices. This course will take students beyond the simple notion of patients as “customers” to understanding key factors and strategies for creating a satisfying patient experience, and for the role that patients and families can play in health system planning and operations improvement.

Credits: 3

Department: Master of Healthcare Administration