

HLS 265: INTRODUCTION TO HOMELAND SECURITY

This course introduces the changing dynamics of homeland security at both the national and state levels to the student. It explores the various dynamics of providing security in different settings. The history and future of terrorism are also examined in a global context. Students are encouraged to take CJ 100 and CJ 233 prior to this course.

Credits: 3

Department: Criminal Justice