

NUR 874: PHARMACOLOGY IN ANES PRACTICE I

In this course students will examine the pharmacokinetics, pharmacodynamics and corresponding physiology of medications administered during the delivery of anesthesia. Drugs administered during the induction, maintenance and emergence phase of anesthesia, adjunct medications used for cardiopulmonary support and pain control will be analyzed.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

NUR 704

Department: Nursing