Add-Drop

For Graduate Programs

A student may change their course selection within the add/drop period. The add/drop period is dependent on the Academic Calendar for the semester and sub-term of the course. The add/drop period and deadlines must be followed to ensure accurate course registration and the proper calculation of tuition and any aid disbursements. Students may not add a course after the add/drop period without permission of the instructor and the program director or dean.