

POLS 111: COMPARATIVE POLITICS (I)

Comparative Politics is the subfield of political science that studies the domestic politics (domestic political institutions, processes, and policy outcomes) of various countries by examining the similarities and differences between them.

Credits: 3

Department: Public Policy