

PSYC 302: PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTING

An examination of the basic principles of psychological assessment and a critical survey of the instruments used in schools, clinics, and hospitals, including intelligence, aptitude, achievement, vocational interest, and personality tests. Practice is given in administering, scoring, and interpreting representative tests.

Credits: 3

Prerequisites:

PSYC 220 or PSYC 250. Alternate years.

Department: Psychology