

BUAD 353: PROJECT MANAGEMENT SCHEDULING

Provides an overview of traditional theory and practice and the growing literature on project scheduling in contemporary project management. It also provides the student with opportunities to study and examine real-life applications through readings and preparing a MS Project Plan (MSP). Highlights the principles and practices of sustainable business management from both a strategic perspective and an application-oriented perspective.

Credits: 3

Department: Business