

OTH 832: TECHNOLOGY & ENVIRONMENTAL ADAPT

This course exposes students to a variety of types of assistive technology and approaches for context modification to enhance occupational performance. The course allows students to explore concepts related to the design and development of assistive technology and client-centered practice approaches including modification, compensation, and adaptation as it relates to occupational roles and context.

Credits: 2

Department: Occupational Therapy